Dear Dr. Stone:

We are beginning a series of Surgical and Transplantation Symposia at Georgetown and we have decided to name the series in honor of Dr. Alexis Carrel who came to the United States from Paris at the turn of the century to begin the first studies on organ transplantation. A number of our Jesuits knew Dr. Carrel personally and they arranged for his equipment and notebooks to be stored in our archives.

The first Symposium will be on "Lipid Mediators in Organ Transplantation" and it will be held on the 8th to the 10th of April of this year. I am enclosing an outline of the program for you.

As you can see, the program combines the surgeon, physician and immunologist. We wish to invite your organization to help sponsor the Symposium and I am therefore writing to solicit a contribution of $5,000. Naturally, your contribution would be appropriately and properly recognized. We would also like one of your colleagues to join us for the Symposium.

Best regards,

Marie L. Foegh, M.D., D.Sc.
